State tests serve as a snapshot that helps schools and districts evaluate their instructional programs by providing information about student readiness in Math, English language arts, and Science. Because of this, other information (e.g., opportunity to learn, mode of learning, access to grade-level content, attendance, course grades) should be considered when reviewing your data.

- To select another student, select 'Switch Student' in the top left corner of the screen to bring you back to Your Student(s) page.
